Overview of the Interconnect Process

After this Request for New Facilities is submitted, ONEOK Partners (OKS) will prepare a cost estimate outlining the scope of work and the anticipated costs. Requestor will review the information and notify OKS in a timely manner if Requestor elects to initiate the work or to cancel the Request. If Requestor elects to continue the project, OKS will prepare a Facilities Agreement defining engineering and construction terms of the project. This agreement will include the estimated cost of the project. Requestor and OKS will negotiate the final terms of the Agreement.

When both parties are satisfied with the Agreement's language, an executable contract will be issued with the final terms and conditions, the agreed to scope of work and the estimated cost of work. OKS will not perform any further work until Requestor submits the signed Agreement and any specified prepayment for the project. After the Agreement is executed and prepayment is received, OKS will purchase materials, initiate fabrication, schedule construction, etc. as necessary to complete OKS' portion of the project. Depending on property rights, environmental, and regulatory issues relative to the project, it may take up to ninety days to obtain required clearance to commence work on location.

Regulatory and Tariff Compliance

All interconnect arrangements and any associated transactions subject to the jurisdiction of any state or federal regulatory commission must comply with the regulations of such commission and any applicable OKS tariffs. Construction of facilities may be subject to approval by such commission or may, among other possible requirements, require (1) prior notice to affected individuals or the public, (2) environmental, cultural, or historical surveys or clearances, or (3) approvals by environmental agencies.
